

In the Specification:

Enclosed please find both marked and clean copies of the substitute specification. Wherein, under a condition of without introducing any new matter, paragraphs [0035]-[0037] were added to explain two new Figures 7 and 8, and intended to provide an embodiment for a phase shift of the illumination control pulse signal varying with time within a predetermined range. The entire specification has also been amended to correct editorial errors.